IMPORTANT TO ALL.

DR. SWAYNE,

The discoverer and compounder of the far-famed

Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry

and other valuable preparations, entered upon his professional career with the important advantage of a regular medical education in one of the oldest and best schools in Philadelphia, and, perhaps, in the world. He subsequently served a faithful term of practice in the Philadelphia Dispensary, and for many years attended in the Hospital. In these institutions he enjoyed the most ample opportunities of obtaining an insight into diseases in all their various forms, as well as for ascertaining the best methods of their treatment. In offering, therefore, to the people of the United States the fruits of his extensive professional experience in the medical compounds as the best results of his skill and observation, he feels that he is but proffering a boon to every family throughout the land, resting, as he does, confidently in the merits and efficacious virtue of the remedies he herewith commends. The vast amount of testimony from all parts of the world has proven "DOCTOR SWAYNE'S COMPOUND SYRUP OF WILD CHERRY" the most efficacious remedy known, and it is admitted by our most eminent physicians, and all who have witnessed its wonderful healing properties. The WILD CHERRY in all ages of the world and in all countries where it is known has been justly celebrated for its wonderful medicinal qualities, but its great power to cure some of the worst and most distressing diseases among us was never fully ascertained until the experiments of that skillful physician, Dr. Swayne, had demonstrated its high adaptation, in combination with Pine Tree Tar, and other equally valuable vegetable ingredients, which chemically combined renders it action tenfold more certain and beneficial in curing all diseases of the throat, breast and lungs. DR. SWAYNE'S WILD CHERRY COMPOUND strikes at the root of disease by purifying the blood, restoring the liver and kidneys to healthy action, invigorating the nervous and shattered constitution. If your druggist or storekeeper does not have it, do not be put off by any other remedy that may be offered, but send to us direct, and we will forward a half dozen to any address, freight paid, on receipt of the price, $1 per bottle, or $5 the half dozen. Address letters to DR. SWAYNE & SON, 330 North Sixth street, Philadelphia. No charge will be made for advice.

Ask Your Druggist for Them.

Females and all who value health should never be without DR. SWAYNE'S TWI-LIGHT ALL-HEALING PILLS, as they purify the blood, remove all obstructions, cleanse the skin of all pimples and blotches, and bring the rich color of health to the pale cheek. Female irregularities are restored to a healthy condition. They are a certain cure for Sick and Nervous Headache. As a tonic Pill, nothing can exceed them; take one, two or three, as may be found necessary; unlike others, they neither gripe, produce nausea, or any other unpleasant sensation, while they are as powerful as it is possible for a medicine to be and do harmless. They will cleanse out the disordered humors, enrich and purify the blood, remove all unhealthy bilious secretions of the stomach and bowels, causing a perfectly healthy state of the liver, and are undoubtedly the best cathartic and antibilious medicine yet discovered; and we are determined that the sick shall have them at a price within the means of the poorest (25 cents a box of 30 Pills.) If your druggist or storekeeper has not got them, do not be put off by any others that may be offered in their place, but send to us direct, and we will forward by mail, on receipt of the price, 25 cents a box or five boxes $1.

Itching Piles

is generally preceded by a moisture, like perspiration, distressing Itching, as though pin worms were crawling in or about the rectum, particularly at night when undressing, or in bed after getting warm. It appears in summer as well as winter, oftentimes shows itself around the private parts, and is not confined to males only, but is quite as frequent that females are sore y afflicted, particularly in times of pregnancy, extending into the vagina, proving distressing almost beyond the powers of endurance. Cases of long standing, pronounced incurable, have been permanently cured by simply applying

Poetical.

FAR APART.

Beneath the quaint old bridge you hear
The waves make music as they pass;
And winding to the elm tree near,
You see the pathway through the grass,
Where we were wont to walk, alas!

The river wanders as of old
Beneath the shade of willow trees;
The sunlit waters gleam like gold,
And ripple to the gentle breeze;
But I am far from thee and those!

The sky bends over broad and blue,
And in the soft and mellow light
You tread the lane our footsteps knew
In former days, when days were bright.
Do these days bring such sweet delight?

And still with grass that lane is green;
With fragrant flowers the banks are fair;
In golden gloss and silver sheen
The bees still haunt the balmy air;
But you will fail to find me there.

Again, perchance, I may not see
The rustling rows of willow trees
(Which lent a leafy canopy
When we strolled underneath at ease;)
For I am far from thee and these,

Our joys forsake us. Soon does spring
Pass by and for the summer call;
Soon do the birds lose heart to sing,
When fading leaves in autumn fall;
And winter is the end of all.

SAINTS.

I see them with their heavenly eyes,
Who in the Christ abide;
The long train ceases not to rise,
Though time's unceasing tide
And a grave across each pathway lies,
But the path swerves not aside.

Like a chorus which no discords mar,
Sober and clear and grand,
Like a scroll upreaching to a star,
Caught by an angel's hand,
Like a wind beginning from afar,
And covering all the land,

They sound, they pass; each man beholds
The Master's risen face,
Each arm some dear beloved enfolds
Yet keeps its forward place.
The weak one leans, the strong upholds,
But all are in the race.

Up, through the darkness and the pain,
Up, through the joy and light,
Earth's myriad hands are raised in vain
To baffle or invite.
Life shows nothing to detain,
Death, nothing to affright.

By all things fair their course is graced,
By all things bitter, healed;
Gathering like servants ready in haste
Who, being challenged, yield,
And through the garden on the waste,
Guide to God's happy field.

To them each human loss is gaid
Withdrawn or sacrificed,
Nothing but sin was all in vain,
And that, which long enticed,
Falls from each soul and leaves no stain
At the first smile of Christ.

The flock of God goes up and on,
And if, as sin departs,
Some faces from the throng are gone,
Leaving some broken hearts,
God, full of pity for his own,
Dries every tear that starts.

The flock of God is strong and swift
And it devours the way,
Longing to see the curtain lift
From the everlasting day;
How slight the toil how vast the gift,
How weary the delay!

Lord, gather us beneath their feet
As thy good will shall be!
The service of thy saints is sweet
When they are serving thee;
Souls for inheritance unmeet
May serve eternity.

Miscellaneous.

THE RIGHT BOWER.

It was Judge Lurlington's own expression.

Half a dozen lawyers, fresh from their studies, and just admitted to the bar, were listening to his advice. The jurist had a bottle of wine at his elbow, and was in a communicative mood.

"Young men," he said, "whatever may be your strait, never take a case before a jury, or before any court, unless you have your right bower for a head.'

If the reader surmises from this that the old Judge was fond of euchre, he will not have surmised amiss.

The young men looked at him inquiringly.

"I mean," he added, "that you shall never advocate a cause into the work of which you cannot enter with a clear conscience. You shall never accept a client whose cause you do not believe to be just."

"Can that rule always be adhered to?" asked one of the listeners.

"It can," answered Lurlington, emphatically. "It is a lawyer's firm rock of foundation, and the only sure point of departure to the respect and confidence of his fellows."

"Have you always followed that rule, Judge?"

"I was never tempted from it but once," he replied, "I will tell you the story, if you would like to hear it."

Of course they would like to; and having laid aside his pipe, the old man began:

"One day I was waited upon by a man who gave his name as Laban Sarfurt. He was of middle age, well-dressed, and at first sight appeared to be a gentleman; but the illusion was dispelled when approaching business. He was hard and unfeeling, and naturally a villain. Success in speculation had saved him from becoming a thief or highwayman. I heard of him as a dealer in the up-river lands. He asked me if I was willing to undertake a job which would call me to Shireton. I told him I was open to anything legitimate that would pay."

"Mr. Lurlington," said he, tapping me with coarse familiarity upon the arm, "I want to secure your services, you must not be engaged on the other side."

"I told him if he would explain to me the case I might be better able to give him an answer." He bit an enormous quid of tobacco from a black plug, and having got it into shape between his jaws, he went on with his story.

"The case is one of ejectment. An elderly man, named Philip Acton, had died leaving a valuable estate. There was nearly a thousand acres of land, with opportunities for developing immense water power; and ere many years that land will be worth more than a million dollars. At present upon the estate, and claiming it as a son of the deceased, was a man calling himself William Acton."

"But," said Sarfurt, "he is not a legitimate child at all. His mother was Betsy Totwood, at one time a girl in Acton's employ. Acton, I know, was never married. He brought the boy up and educated him, and now the fellow thinks he will step into his protector's shoes I can prove that I am the only living relative of Philip Acton. He was my uncle—my mother's brother—and, ot a lawyer as smart as you, there can be no difficulty in proving my title. I can bring the witnesses to your hand."

"He told me he would give me five hundred dollars if I would undertake the case, and an additional thousand if I gained it That was a big fee—far more than I had then made in all my pleading. It was tempting. And yet I saw it was not perfectly clear—not entirely honest. The probability was that this William Acton was Philip's child, and it was not impossible that Philip had married Betsy Totwood. It struck me that Laban Sarfurt was a villain, and that he fancied he had young Acton so far in his power that he could eject him from the title. But what had I particularly to do with that? If I accepted a client, I must serve him. I had no business but to serve his interest. I finally told Mr. Sarfurt that I would think the matter over. I should probably have business in Shireton during the session of the court, and I would call on him there and examine more fully. I could not take his retainer until I had further light."

"But," said he, "will you promise not to take up the other side?"

"I told him I would do nothing without further consultation with him."

"Because," he added, "if you are for me I am sure to win. Acton can't find a lawyer that can hold a candle to you. I know them all."

"No matter whether I believed him or not, I did not feel flattered."

"Two weeks later I received a letter from Sarfurt, promising me $5000 if I won."

"The five thousand dollars was a strong argument. Was not law really a game of chance, in which the strongest hand and longest purse must win? I told myself yes. Yes—and I sat down and wrote a reply, saying that I would take the case. But I did not mail it at once. That night I put it under my pillow, and slept over it; and on the following morning I threw it into the fire. I would not make up my mind until I had seen other parties—until I had been on the grounds. And I wrote to Laban Sarfurt to wait."

"Two weeks later I harnessed my horse to the wagon, and, with my wife and child, started for Shireton. I had been married two years, and our little babe, a girl, was a year old, our pride, our pet and our darling. Shireton was a distance of about thirty miles. We had been having rainy weather for a week or so, and it had now cleared off bright and beautiful. We stopped and took dinner at an inn, four miles beyond which was a stream which must be forded. The innkeeper told me that the stream was somewhat swollen from the late rains, but that if my horse was trusty there could be no danger."

"Arrived at the stream, the Wampatuck river, I found the water indeed risen, and the current strong, but I saw that others had recently gone over, and I resolved to venture. I knew my horse, and had faith in him. My wife was anxious and she trusted my judgment. A third of the way across the water was over the hub of the wheels. A little more and it would have reached the body of the wagon. I began to be alarmed; I feared I had left the true track. Presently my horse stumbled and staggered, having evidently stepped on a moving stone. The wagon swayed and tipped, and in a moment more we were in the water. With one hand I grasped the harness upon the horse and with the other I held my wife. I was thus struggling when a wild cry from her lips startled the air. Our child was washed away.

"Oh, my soul! I cannot tell you what I suffered during those moments. I could not help our darling If I left my wife she was lost. I clung to the horse and clung to my shrieking wife—shrieking to God to have mercy for her child. In the distance, upon the bosom of the surging flood, I could see our little one, her white dress gleaming in the sun, being borne swiftly away. A moment more and I saw a man plunge from the bank into the river. I saw this much, and then an intervening point of land shut out the scene. The horse was now rapidly nearing the shore, and ere long my wife and I were on dry land, with the horse and wagon. As soon as I was sure my wife was safe I left her to care for the horse while I posted off down the river bank in quest of the swimmer and the child.

"You may well understand that all this time I was frantic; I was a machine being operated upon by a surging and agonizing emotion. How long or how far I wandered I do not know, but at length I met a man, wet and dripping with my darling in his arms, my darling safe and sound. He told me that he had caught the child within a few rods of the falls, and that in landing he had cleared the fatal abyss by not more than two yards. He was a young man, not more than 25, handsome and stalwart. He said he had seen my wagon tip, and was coming to my assistance when he saw the child washed away. 'I threw my life into the balance,' said he with a genial smile, 'and thank God! both the lives were saved!'

"I asked him how I should ever repay him." He stopped me with an imploring gesture:

"'If you talk of more pay than I have already received,' he said, 'if you can rob me of the only solid reward I can claim, mercy! if saving the life of such a cherub is not enough of reward in itself, then hard is the heart that craves.' And, with moistened eyes, he told me that he had a child of his own at home—an only child of very nearly the same age.

"I asked if he would tell me his name. With a smile, he answered that his name did not matter—he was not sure that he had a name. I then asked him if he knew me. He nodded, and said he thought I might be Mr. Lurlington. When I told him he was correct he immediately turned away. I was too deeply moved to stop him, and when he had disappeared I started to rejoin my wife with a dawning impression that the man might be slightly deranged. But my darling was safe—her broad, fleecy cloak had floated out and kept her head above water—and I went on my way rejoicing, resolved that the preserver of my child should not be forgotten.

"I will not tell you of the emotion of my wife when she held her child once more in her arms. We reached Shireton before night, and found quarters at a comfortable tavern.

"On the following day Laban Sarfurt called upon me and was about to spread his evidence for my inspection, when I interrupted him. I told him I could not accept his confidence until I had made up my mind to take his case in hand. Something seemed to whisper that there was danger ahead. I did not feel comfortable in that man's presence. I felt as though he was trying to buy me. The Court would sit in four days. I told him I would give him a final answer in two days from that.

"That evening I made a confidant of my wife, and asked her what I should do. 'If I take the case,' I said, 'I am sure of $5,000.' She bade me do what was right. 'God has been very kind to us,' she said, 'Let us look to Him for guidance.'"

"After this I called on the clergyman of the place, whose son had been my classmate in college, and whom I had once before visited. He received me heartily, and by and by I asked him about William Acton. The result of all he told me summed up in his closing sentence. Said he:

"'I am sure William Acton was Philip Acton's child—in fact I know it—and I think the father and mother were married. Betsy died very soon after her child was born, and we know that Philip always treated the boy as a legitimate child; and that he loved him as such I can confidently affirm.'

"On the following morning, after breakfast, as I sat by the window in the bar room I saw coming from the street the man who had saved my child. He was walking slowly along like one in trouble. I pointed him out to my host, and asked him whom he was.

"That is William Acton. Perhaps you have heard of the trouble he is likely to have with Laban Sarfurt.'

"I said I had heard."

"I hope he may come out all right," the host added; 'but I am fearful. He has got a hard and heartless customer to deal with.'

"I shut my mouth and held my peace until Laban Sarfurt called for his final answer. I said to him:

"Mr. Sarfurt I have been considering all this time whether I could undertake your case with a clear conscience—whether I should be helping the side of justice and right in helping you. I concluded that I could not do so before I had seen William Acton, to know him by name. I now know him for a man who nobly risked his own life to save the life of my child. For that deed I will reward him if I can. I have not, as yet, accepted one of your private disclosures; I have gained from you nothing which you could wish to keep from the public. I cannot take your case, but, I tell you frankly, that if you prosecute, I will defend William Acton.

"I did not mind Sarfurt's wrath. He raved and swore and stamped, and then he went off and engaged two lawyers from Herkimer to take his case. I called upon Acton and told him I would defend him, if he would accept my services, as I had accepted his. He took my hand and thanked me.

"I have made a great many pleas in my life, but I think I never made a better one than I made to that jury on that occasion. They were out not over five minutes. By their verdict William Acton was the lawful possessor of the estate his father had left.

"From that day I never hesitated to refuse a case to which I could not give my heart. Such a stand on the part of a lawyer becomes known, and the public feels it; and what the public feels juries are sure to feel.

"Concerning William Acton, I will only add that he became my bosom friend. He always felt that he owed his title to his valuable property to me; and to him I knew that I was indebted for the home that was mine for thirty years. He was very delicate in the gift of that piece of property. He deeded it to my wife. The husband of my oldest daughter is his oldest son."

Had no Fun in Him.

One of the members of the Methodist Conference, recently held here, was out for a walk at an early hour one morning, and while on Howard street he encountered a strapping big fellow who was drawing a wagon to the blacksmith shop.

"Catch hold here and help me down to the shop with this wagon, and I'll buy the whisky!" called the big fellow.

"I never drink," solemnly replied the good man.

"Well, you can take a cigar."

"I never smoke."

The man dropped the wagon-tongue, locked hard at the member, and asked:

"Don't you chew?"

"No, Sir," was the decided reply.

"You must get mighty lonesome," mused the teamster.

"I guess I'm all right—I feel first rate."

"I'll bet you even thav I can lay you on your back!" remarked the teamster. "Come now, let's warm up a little."

"I never bet."

"Well, let's take each other down for fun, then. You are as big as I am, and I'll give you the under hold."

"I never have fun," solemnly answered the member.

"Well, I'm going to tackle you anyway. Here we go!"

The teamster slid up and endeavored to get a neck hold, but he had only just commenced to fool about when he was lifted clear off the grass and slammed against a tree box with such force that he gasped half a dozen times before he could get his breath.

"Now you keep away from me!" exclaimed the minister, picking up his cane.

"Bust me, if I don't!" replied the teamster, as he edged off. "What's the use in lying and saying that you didn't have any fun in you when you're chuck full of it! Blame it! you wanted to break my back, didn't you?"

Insults to Religion.

We respectfully represent to the political parties that some care may be wisely shown in the selection of orators at the great meetings of the campaign. We claim the right, as a religious journal, to criticise the moral conduct of public men who come as public teachers into our community. And while we will in no sense enter into the politics of the time, we would be unfaithful to God and man not to rebuke and denounce blasphemy and vulgarity wherever it appears. And in this connection we have to say that the writer, as far as he has convictions on political subjects, is a republican, but is not partisan enough to tolerate the ribaldry of Colonel Ingersoll, who took advantage of his position last week in Philadelphia, to assail the faith of the best people in his party and nation. The republican party cannot afford to have the moral and religious sense of the country outraged in the interest of atheism and vulgar malignity and get no more than the illogical vaporings of a demagogue in return.—Ex.

The Call to Arms.

Hon. Wm. McClelland, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, has issued the following address to the people of Pennsylvania. In a few days he will announce appointments for meetings in every section of the State, and a strong array of the ablest orators will be called into the field. Ohio and Indiana being considered settled by both sides for November, the campaigners from those States will be thrown into Pennsylvania. General Tom Ewing and General Morgan, of Ohio, the great leaders against the resumption bill of 1875, will speak in the Western and interior counties; Senator Wallace, Governor Hendricks, Curtin and Bigler will commence in a few days, and speak daily until the election, and the entire force of party orators will be pressed into the service. The report of the committee is that the Democrats are thoroughly inspirited by the favorable results of the October elections, and there will certainly be a desperate contest for the electoral vote of Pennsylvania. The following is

M'CLELLAND'S ADDRESS.

COMMITTEE ROOMS,
HARRISBURG, October 12, 1876.

To the people of Pennsylvania:

We congratulate you on the victory won by the people in the great States of Ohio, Indiana and West Virginia on Tuesday last.

The contest was one of desperate energy and unscrupulous use of power by our opponents.

We have carried the States of Indiana and West Virginia by decided majorities, and have substantially a victory in Ohio, the home of the Presidential candidate of the Republican party, for if it be saved to them at all it is "as by fire."

All who have desired purity of administration and loved constitutional government have united with us in this desperate struggle with official patronage, money and power.

The people have won.

Hate, money and fraud have been found unable to cope with a sincere desire for Reform and Constitutional Government.

The prestige of success is with "Tilden, Hendricks and Reform." We have beaten the enemy upon a field of their own choosing. Our lines are unbroken; their forces are demoralized and retreating. "Forward" is now the word.

Pennsylvania is to be won. Our fight is to be an aggressive one. The township and county organizations will press the contest in every locality with vigor and determination. Arouse the people. Attack the enemy. Demand an answer for the wrongs of the past and the ills of the present. Arraign them for business depression, for dish

A FEW CALUMNIES ANSWERED.

The Columbia County Republican of October 12th, denounces the alleged ignorance and subserviency of the Columbia County Democracy; laments their incorrigible progress in majorities, and makes an assault upon some of their so-called leaders, describing them as shallow demagogues, fifth-rate lawyers, &c. The devotion of this County to Democracy is a deep mystery to this Demosthenes of the pen, and he can do no better than to impute it to the arts of fifth-rate men and to the ignorance and gullibility of the people—an explanation which is at once incredible, insulting and preposterous. Better explanations of this distressing fact of large and increasing Democratic majorities in Columbia County, can very easily be given, and among them may be mentioned the very valuable and very constant aid rendered to the Democracy by the Columbia County Republican and by its conductors. The present and former conductors of that journal have been so proscriptive and selfish in their relations to and dealings with members of their own party—with reference to party patronage and party management—that they have thereby alienated the sympathies of very many persons and weakened their party organization. And their newspaper has been, notoriously, a cause of weakness to their party rather than one of strength, because it has been badly conducted. It has been abusive and untruthful, slangy and insolent, reckless in assertion, boastful and pretentious, and the abject and constant apologist of abuses in government and of misconduct in public men. Hence, it has offended public sentiment, repelled confidence, and provoked hostility. Unreliable in statement and thoroughly unjust in its treatment of political opponents, it is detested by some persons and distrusted by all. How can a party prosper represented by such an organ? How win support without conciliating opposition, respecting public opinion and establishing a character for justice, fairness, civility, honor and truth in its utterances and action?

This is not the language of mere declamation. To justify it we will turn to the files of the Republican within a few months and examine a few articles therein, taken almost at random. These may be accepted as samples of the intellectual food furnished to the Republicans of Columbia county upon which their party is expected to thrive and grow strong in our midst; of the gentle, winning means by which young men are to be "built up" in the Radical faith, and Democrats sweetly won from the error of their ways! In each case we give the exact text and append a brief answer.

1. Buchanan on Wages of Labor :—"Ten cents a day, said Buchanan, is enough for a laboring man, and every Democratic vote is an endorsement of Buchanan's opinion."—Republican, August 31.

Answer : He never said anything of the kind. What he did say was: "That country is the most prosperous where labor receives the greatest reward;" an opinion which the Democracy held then, when his words were spoken, and hold now. This ancient falsehood, now repeated by the Republican, has been refuted a thousand times, and was denounced by Mr. Buchanan himself as "flagitious"—that was the word—when it was first started.

2. Remarks of Ex.-Gov. Vance, of North Carolina :—"On the 15th inst., at Shelby, N. C., ex-Gov Vance addressed his Confederate friends with these words: 'Remember that all our brave Southern friends who dipped their hands in Union blood, and all their leaders in the South, are for Reform and Tilden."—Republican, October 5.

Answer : At the meeting referred to Gov. Vance quoted this language from a speech by Hon. Ingersoll of Illinois, a Radical Hayes orator, in order to deny and denounce it. It was the language of Ingersoll and not of Vance, and was open to denunciation as false in view of the fact that guerilla Mosby, General Longstreet and hundreds of other rebels are active supporters of Hayes in the present election. Some lying correspondent telegraphed this language to the Northern press as having been spoken by Gov. Vance as his own, as expressive of his own sentiments; but the falsehood was promptly exposed and corrected by the N. Y. Herald, N. Y. Tribune and other journals.

3. The House of Representatives did no good thing : "The Democrats have had full control of the House of Representatives for the past six months. What have they done to merit public confidence and future support? Nothing! Their labors have been barren of any good results.—Republican June 15.

Answer : The House exposed and impeached Belknap and drove him from office, and would have further punished him if he had not been protected by Grant and the Senate; They investigated Robeson, Boss Sheppard, the Custom Houses and the Departments, checking abuses and exposing wrongs and laying the foundations of future reform in all branches of the Administration: They substituted coin for the fractional currency rags which may be fairly described as both unconstitutional and unclean: They passed a bill to repeal the bogus resumption act, to clear the way for real measures of preparation for an early resumption of specie payments, and they reduced the expenses of Government Thirty Millions of dollars for the current year! These are some of the things which the Democratic House did at the late session, and mostly against an untiring fly or opposing Senate and President. That something was done by the House to cut off useless offices and lessen the burdens of Government is shown by such fulspeiaces of information as the following which we take from the Republican of August 24th:

"124 Clerks employed in the War Department at Washington, D. C., were discharged on Saturday, in conformity with the recent action of Congress ordering a reduction in the national clerical departments."

The saving of expense upon a reduction of 124 Clerks, at an average of $1,600 each, amounts to $198,400.

4. Tariff blather : "The Free Trade Democracy ought to explain the reason of their opposition to the interests of every laboring man. Hard times and free trade always go hand in hand."—Republican Aug. 24.

Answer : The Republicans have had unchecked power in the government of the U. S. for nearly 16 years, have fixed tariffs to suit themselves, and in other respects have exercised their own sweet will. Present tariff duties are such as they have made them, many of them being ferocious in rate and magnitude, and yet hard times came in 1872, and still continue after a lapse of 4 years. It is manifest that "hard times" and "free trade" do not always go together, as this foolish, shallow writer pretends, but the former may be the result of other and independent causes. In the same number of the Republican appears the following paragraph:

"The miners in the Lehigh District have accepted a reduction in their wages of about 15 per cent for the coming month. There has been no reduction of tolls or freight."

So we see that labor is ground down while capitalists and corporations maintain their charges under high rates of duties upon imports. It may be added that the talk about free trade at present is absurd: our enormous public debt and the necessary expenditures of Government will require heavy duties and a large revenue for many long years to come.

5. Governor Tilden's Income Tax for 1862: "While the loyal men of the North paid their allotment of the War tax cheerfully, he evaded the war tax by false swearing."—Rep. Sept. 14.

"A man whom the record shows, perjured himself in the return of his income tax. * * He did not want reform when he perjured himself about his income tax. * * He did not want reform until he had safely pocketed more than $100,000 that belonged to the nation. * * The people now say pay the Gov't. the $100,000 you retained by perjury."—Rep. Sept. 21.

Answer : There never was the slightest proof produced in support of this furious and malicious charge, which was borrowed from the shameless columns of the N. Y. Times, in which was paraded a pretended bill of items of Gov. Tilden's income for the year 1862. A complete, detailed, incontrovertible answer to this whole charge by Judge Sinnott of New York was given on the first page of the COLUMBIAN Sept. 29th. In that answer it was shown that nearly every item in the Times exhibit was false and forged, no such items of income having ever existed, and that the items which had any foundation in truth were nearly all items of income prior to the year 1862 and not objects of taxation for that year under the laws of the U. S. Upon the publication of Judge Sinnott's answer to the Times, this malicious slander, in the judgment of all honorable men, sank among other despicable rubbish of the campaign and will be referred to hereafter only as illustrating the desperation and malignity of the enemies of reform. But the stupid absurdity of the charge in the Republican is manifest upon its face. It charges Governor Tilden with defrauding the Government out of the whole false income alleged by the Times for 1862, instead of the mere tax upon it—out of the whole bogus sum of $100,000 instead of 5 per cent. thereon, which was the tax rate under the law. But the reckless authors of this slander were just as near the truth in stating the one amount as the other, as the whole charge was utterly destitute of truth in any possible form. Nor is there any evidence that he paid an inadequate tax for subsequent years when a hostile assessor assessed his income at $15,000 per year, the tax on which was regularly paid and without any question as to its sufficiency until the present canvass rendered slander a necessity to the Radical leaders. It is a notable circumstance in this connection that the Treasury Department at Washington utterly refuses to allow any one to see the income tax returns of those wealthy men, Gov. Hayes and ex-Gov. Morgan, Republican candidates for high office, although it furnished the alleged returns of Gov. Tilden for the purpose of campaign detraction and the manufacture of falsehood.

6. Democracy of Columbia county for rebellion :—"The Democracy of Columbia county are among the most devoted followers of the 'lost cause' in the United States."—Republican, Oct. 12th.

Answer : They were so "devoted" to the Rebellion that they "followed" it with shot and shell, with "blood and iron," until it was wholly subdued. The Democracy of Columbia county were represented in the fight by Gen. Wellington H. Ent, Col. R. Bruce Ricketts, Col. W. W. Ricketts, Capt. James Thornton, Capt. George W. Utt, Capt. Rees J. Millard, Capt. C. B. Brockway, Capt. W. J. Allen, Lieut. and Regt. Adjutant Geo. S. Coleman, Lieut. U. H. Ent and other officers, and by soldiers—"rank and file"—who did their whole duty to their country. The soldier vote sent home from the army in 1864 was, in spite of all unfairness in taking it under Radical manipulation, Democratic 193, Republican 184. We have, lying before us, papers of subscription to raise monies for war purposes in Bloomsburg at the beginning of 1864, which, if published, would constitute a fine commentary upon the above text from the Republican, as would the lists of contributions for the "Iron Guards" and other military organizations, earlier in the war. But why reply to slang by argument or by an appeal to facts? The Pharisee is not to be put down by any exposure of his false pretences, and his impertinence about his neighbors "will break no bones."

7. Col. Freeze and John Rantz.—"When an honest citizen from Fishingcreek inquired as to the condition of public affairs during the Rebellion, this fellow told him that Ohio had seceded, Indiana had also, and New York was about to secede, and advised him to go home and get the "Confederacy" ready as Pennsylvania would soon follow."—Republican Oct. 12.

Answer : In the special report of the military trial of John Rantz at Harrisburg, made for and published in the Philadelphia Inquirer, dated October 25th, 1864, and which was, we believe, republished in the Columbia County Republican, the testimony of Richard Stiles, a government witness, was given as follows:

"Rantz said he had been to Bloomsburg that day, and lawyer Freeze had told him Illinois had just seceded, and the State of New York was about to go out of the Union. Rantz further said, that the Abolition leaders had seven pockets and they never would be satisfied until they got them all full of money."

Another and independent report of the testimony of the same witness, substantially the same in language, will be found in the Columbian of July 30th, 1869. Comparing this accurate, contemporaneous report with the above new version by the Republican, we have a fine progress in falsehood. Ohio and Indiana are substituted for Illinois; Rantz is made to inquire as to the condition of public affairs, and he is advised to go home and get the "Confederacy" ready as Pennsylvania would soon follow the example of the other States mentioned. All this is now freshly manufactured, not one word of it being in the original report! The additions to this story are, however, no more false and absurd than was the original story itself. Richard Stiles says, that John Rantz said, that Col. Freeze had said, that Illinois had seceded and New York would also! Considering that nobody before or since the Rantz trial ever heard of a secession by Illinois or of a project for secession by New York, we may safely conclude that this string of hear-says never contained an atom of truth. Rantz himself, who is declared by the Republican to be "an honest citizen," denied lustily at the time that he had ever heard or reported this nonsense to Stiles or to any one else. This is what he said:

"United States vs. John Rantz; Before Military Commission at Harrisburg, October, 1864:—Whereas Richard Stiles in his testimony for the prosecution, in this case, testified as follows, to-wit: "Rantz said he had been to Bloomsburg that day and Lawyer Freeze had told him Illinois had just seceded and the State of New York was about to go out of the Union"—Now, I John Rantz, the Defendant above named, do hereby certify that I was not in Bloomsburg the day referred to and had not then, nor at any time, any conversation with John G. Freeze on the subject referred to; and that he did not at any time make the remark above testified to by Stiles, to me or in my hearing, nor anything like it; nor do I remember having said so to Richard Stiles or any other person; nor do I believe I ever did say so. such not being the fact. Witness my hand &c., this 27th day of October, A. D., 1864.

JOHN RANTZ.

One additional point and we will dismiss the Republican for the present. The following facts, to-wit: that Col. Freeze was employed as Counsel against Reverend Daniel A. Beckley and secured his conviction as a Rioter in the year 1863; that he sued the same Reverend person for a client and obtained judgment against him within the last year for $1500, which judgment remains unpaid, and that he is now again employed as Counsel against the same Reverend person in an action of Libel soon to be tried in Court, although they may be grievous and offensive facts in the opinion of the Republican, will hardly justify the designation of the Colonel as "a fellow" in the above extract, or the use of other terms of personal reproach towards him in the article from which the extract is taken, any more than they will justify the revival of an old and absurd slander with fresh additions of falsehood to make it more palatable to the scandal-mongers of the Republican party.

FACTS FOR TAXPAYERS.

The Republican party promise now, as they did sixteen years ago, reform and economy. Let us judge them by their acts. As a means of comparison we take the year 1868, when Johnson went out of power, and 1875.

GERRYMANDERING.

The people of Pennsylvania are well acquainted with his infamous system by which they are deprived of their rightful representation in Congress. It consists solely in so grouping counties as to bring together a number having heavy Democratic votes and giving them one district while the adjourning districts are carried by comparatively small Republican majorities.

The same rascally plan prevails in Indiana. At the recent election the Democrats had a majority on the Congressional vote of 7,000, and yet the Republicans, by their shameful districting of the State six years ago, have gained three Congressmen. In the popular uprising of 1874 the Democrats elected eight Congressmen and the Republicans five, now the figures seem to show that the Democrats have lost what they gained in that year in spite of the gerrymandering. Since the war the Democrats have elected a Secretary of State in 1862, 1870 and 1874, and a Governor in 1872. Had the State been fairly districted the Democrats would have gained, not lost, Congressmen.

FORCED RESUMPTION.

The Republicans having forced an unredeemable currency upon the country, now seek to bastardize their own issue, by declaring in favor of a forced resumption of specie payments in 1879. The former move, as well as the latter, is in the interest of capitalists and foreign bond-holders. Our people are in sore distress now, but if the debtor class must pay specie two years hence, on purchases made on a currency basis, heavy premiums must be paid, or else many a home will be sacrificed under the Sheriff's hammer. The Democratic party demand the repeal of the Resumption Act passed by a Republican Congress, and adhered to by them in their platform. As many of our opponents are fond of quoting Abraham Lincoln as authority, we give the following sentence from one of his messages. "A return to specie payments at the earliest period, compatible with due regard to all interests concerned, should ever be kept in view." This is precisely the position of the Democratic party, and that in itself should give us the support of the laboring classes.

"You ought to have lost both legs," was Tilden's remark to a crippled soldier, and the soldier lived to make his affidavit on it. —Clearfield Republican.

The soldier who made that lying affidavit also says that he was promised a suit of clothes for making it—but he hasn't got the clothes yet. He ought to have them whilst on earth, he won't need very warm apparel after he leaves it.

The Bank of Nevada decided, last week, to increase its capital from five to ten millions and shortly afterwards the firm of Flood & O'Brien drew their check for $5,000,000. This is probably the largest check ever drawn in this country. Flood & O'Brien are the largest owners of the famous Big Bonanza silver mines.

The official returns of Arkansas at the recent election for Governor foot up as follows: Miller, Democrat, 71,298; Bishop, Republican, 57,396; Democratic majority, 13,902. In 1874 the Democratic vote on Congress was 42, 671, and the Republican vote was 22,803, Democratic majority 19,-863.

A terrible riot occurred last Saturday, near Shamokin between some tramps and drunken miners. The fight lasted several hours and resulted in the death of four of the rioters—two tramps and two miners. One man was thrown on the track of the Northern Central R. R. and literally cut to pieces by a passing train.

Persons of sedentary habits, and overworked find Dr. Bull's Vegetable Pills a specific for want of Appetite, Palpitation, Debility, Constipation, and many other nameless ailments. At the drug stores.

The Republicans have found to their dismay and disgust that the charge made and proved that Mr. Hayes was a member of the Know Nothing 'American alliance" organization, has seriously interfered with that gentleman's chances for the Presidency and have concluded to try something in the way of a similar charge against Mr. Tilden. They have accordingly published a letter purporting to be written by Lemuel S. Tyler, Secretary of the "American Alliance," denying that Mr. Hayes is or was a member of the order, but stating that Mr. Tilden was, and that he desired the fact should be kept secret lest he should lose the foreign vote. The lie is altogether too attenuated to deceive, but it appears that Mr. Tyler has not been Secretary of the order since last August, and what is more, is now in Europe. The letter purporting to come from him is dated New York. Try again, gentlemen, and do get up something original next time. A stupid lie is the very worst kind to tell.

A frightful boiler explosion occurred on the 12th inst. in the Sable Iron Works of Zug & Co., at Pittsburg, which destroyed the rail and rolling mill. 120 workmen were employed at the time and 59 of these were either killed or wounded. At last reports 15 were dead.

Official returns from all the counties in Indiana give a Democratic majority for Governor of 5,494. On Congressmen the Democrats have a majority of about 7,000 and elect the superintendent of public instruction by 10,000 majority. The rest of the Democratic State ticket has between 7,000 and 8,000 majority.

From J. F. McJilton, Esq., of Baltimore, Maryland:

"I feel it to be due you to say that a young lady, a member of my family, had been suffering for several years under a bronchial affection, and the disease had made such progress, notwithstanding the best medical aid had been consulted, that great fears were entertained that the disease with her, as with many others, might speedily terminate in death. I was induced through the persuasion of a friend to try your Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, and after she had taken three bottles she was entirely cured."

50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by all druggists.

Important to Centennial Visitors.

Many of our readers who yet intend to visit Philadelphia, will wish to do so at the least possible cost and trouble. They will not wish to pay hotel rates when they can obtain good accommodations at private and boarding houses at one-third hotel rates. During September and October the crowds will be so large that they cannot be accommodated at hotels, and to avoid trouble on their arrival all should know where they are going to stop, before leaving home. You can obtain good accommodations by the week for from $5 to $10, or by the day from $1 to $2. To do this you must write to J. Weaver & Co., 1318 Market street, Philadelphia, and they will, on receipt of $1, to pay them for their trouble and expense, send you a list of one hundred boarding houses, giving the prices charged by the day or week. You can then select a place for yourself, and make arrangements direct with the parties you wish to stop with. In this way you can save from $10 to $25. Should you wish to stop at a hotel they will assist all necessary arrangements for you and charge you but $1. This is our advice. Take it. State what paper you saw this in.

DYSPEPSIA! DYSPEPSIA! DYSPEPSIA!

Dyspepsia is the most perplexing of all human ailments. Its symptoms are almost infinite in their variety and the forlorn and despondent victims of the disease often fancy themselves the prey, in turn, of every known malady. This is due, in part to the close sympathy which exists between the stomach and the brain, and in part also to the fact that any disturbance of the digestive functions necessarily disorders the liver, the bowels and the nervous system and effects, to some extent, the quality of the blood.

E. E. Kunkel's Bitter Wine of Iron is a sure cure. This is not a new preparation, to be tried and found wanting, it has been prescribed daily for many years in the practice of eminent physicians with unparalled success; it is not expected to be introduced to cure all the diseases to which the human family is subject, but warranted to cure Dyspepsia in its most obstinate form. Kunkel's Bitter Wine of Iron never fails to cure. Symptoms of Dyspepsia are loss of appetite, wind and rising of the food, dryness of the mouth, heartburn, distension of the stomach and bowels, constipation, headache, dizziness, sleeplessness and low spirits. Try the great remedy and be convinced of its merits. Get the genuine. Take out Kunkel's, which is put only in $1 bottles. Depot 239 side by all Druggists and dealers every where.

Ask for E. E. Kunkel's Bitter Wine of Iron and take no other, six bottles for $5.00 or $1 per bottle.

E. R. Ikeler, Esq., shot a five fox on the hill back of the Irondale furnace on Thursday morning.

Rev. D. J. Waller, Jr., will be installed in his new charge at Orangeville, November 9th, at 7 o'clock p. m.

The Republican last week, whilst claiming a victory, forgot to put out their "rooster." He had the "pip," perhaps.

The Northumberland Presbytery will hold their next annual meeting in Bloomsburg on the Third of April, 1877.

The house of W. M. Monroe, at Rupert, caught fire from a defective flue, on Sunday, and was damaged to the extent of about $200; fully insured.

Very well executed counterfeit half dollars are in circulation. They have the ring of the genuine coin but are deficient in weight. Look out for them, as they are well calculated to deceive.

Williamsport had a disastrous fire last Sunday by which over three million feet of lumber were destroyed. Dodge, James & Stokes were the owners. Loss, $50,000; insurance, $30,000.

The Washingtonville Band have our sincere thanks for the delightful serenade tendered us on last Friday evening. The gentlemanly demeanor of the members impressed all with whom they came in contact.

At the Democratic meeting in the Opera House last Saturday evening B. F. Zarr, Esq., delivered a pertinent and interesting address, which was well received. Mr. J. M. Koser, of Hazleton, also spoke briefly. The attendance was good.

There are $150,000 Catholics in Saint Louis.—Danville Intelligencer.

The above is the first money value placed on religious belief we have ever known. It would be interesting to know whether the treasures alluded to are laid up on earth or elsewhere.

We have received a new campaign song, "Gov. Tilden is our man," a lively ditty which will doubtless be of service in the campaign. Price 35 cents, or $4 20 per dozen. Address F. W. Helmick, 50 West Fourth St., Cincinnati, Ohio.

The Pottsville Standard of last week was a perfect picture book, filled with choice wood cuts emblematic of the recent Democratic victories, &c. Such enterprise deserves honorable mention—hence these brief remarks.

A "young ladies' rifle club" has been formed at Wilkes Barre. Heretofore the sterner sex has used the rifle to kill the deers, but now the dears have taken the matter into their own hands. Wish 'em luck—bless 'em.

The Smiths enlightened a Berwick audience recently. We wish they would go there again, because they made four Democratic votes for us. Calling Democrats "rebels," and Tilden a "perjurer" and thief," may answer for a Dauphin county audience, but is too stale for an enlightened community like Berwick.

The Bloomsburg papers are calling each other carpet baggers. The "Republican" says it will plead guilty to everything mean, but one charge is positively untrue. He never did vote the Democratic ticket, for which we all owe him our thanks; we herewith tender ours.—Mountain Democrat.

Mr. George A. Clark offers Wall Paper at greatly reduced prices to suit the times. The paper formerly sold at 30 cents can now be had for 18, the 25 cent for 15 cents, the 20 cent for 12 cents, and the 12 cent for 9 cents. Do not fail to examine his stock and purchase while the prices are low.

C. G. Jackson, Esq., delivered a speech on Saturday night last to the Republicans of Berwick, in answer, as we understand, to Hon. C. R. Buckalew. He had evidently taken much pains with the speech as he was afraid to trust so valuable an effort to his memory and read from his notes. Buckalew still lives.

Last Saturday night William Fry and Boyd Brobst, two of the young men who were imprisoned on the 20th of September for the robbery of Mr. Fry's house in Montour township, made their escape from jail. They had constructed a key out of zinc, with which they opened the iron door and descended to the cellar, whence their exit was easy. On the following night Brobst returned and gave himself into custody. Fry is still at large.

MEETING OF THE STANDING COMMITTEE.

The members of the Standing Committee are requested to meet at the office of the Chairman, in Bloomsburg, on Tuesday, the 24th of October, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon. The members are specially requested to attend, as business of importance is to be transacted.

W. J. BUCKALEW,
Oct. 18, 1876. Chairman.

The COLUMBIAN sanctum possesses a novel mouse trap—not yet patented. A few nights since the distressed squeaking of a mouse attracted attention and upon examining a box which had contained honey, a small rodent was discovered stuck fast to the bottom of the box, as securely anchored as if a ten pound weight had been fastened to each foot. When liberated the acrobatic performances and elaborate gymnastics of that unfortunate mouse were beautiful to witness. It stood on its head, got up on its ear, rolled over and kicked, and nearly succeeded in turning itself inside out, but its legs, alas, its legs were tied up in knots and not in the least available as means of locomotion. Finally the little creature, by a series of curious contortions and crab like movements, succeeded in wriggling itself behind a safe and doubtless found eventually its home, "sweet" home. Honey won't catch that chap again this season.

D. A. Beckley, postmaster and chief fugleman of the Radicals of this county, addressed a meeting at Light Street last Tuesday. There was nothing particularly absurd in this but there was in the wording of the handbills announcing the event. Allusion was made to the Republican victories in Maine, Vermont, Colorado and Ohio; to a Republican gain of 15,000 in Indiana and a gain of nine Congressmen in Ohio. Let us see: Maine shows the smallest Republican majority given in a Presidential year for more than twenty years; Vermont does likewise; Colorado is even now doubtful; Ohio, with a Presidential candidate living in the State, gave a majority of a little over 6,000; it gave over 34,000 for Grant in 1872; Indiana gives Democratic majorities ranging from 10,000 to 5,500; in 1872 the State rolled up a majority for Grant of more than 21,000. The Republicans gain five Congressmen—not nine. If there is much comfort to the Republicans in these figures they are welcome to them.

Some of the papers in neighboring counties are poking fun at the Berwick Independent for spinning a yarn about a black snake having ten rattles and filled with ground squirrels, which the Independent says was recently killed near Berwick. Black snakes are destitute of rattles down this way, but Berwick may have produced one for aught we know. It should be sent to Barnum or the Centennial, or the Smithsonian Institute at all events.

FIREMEN'S PARADE.

On Thursday afternoon last the fire companies marched through the street of Bloomsburg. The Friendship Company had their hose carriage handsomely decorated, and the Rescue Hook and Ladder Company drew their new truck and apparatus. The uniform of the Rescues consists of a blue shirt with red collar and cuffs. They have not yet received their hats. The parade was headed by the Bloomsburg Cornet Band, H. W. Kubler acting as Chief Marshal. Both companies made a fine appearance, and we have reason to be proud of our fire "ladies." All that remains to be done is to organize a fire department, and then we shall be as fully prepared for fires as we can be without water works.

PERSONAL.—Rev. T. H. Cullen and wife spent a day at Rupert last week, where they were warmly greeted by many friends who were fortunate enough to meet them.

Harry Rutter, of the Mountain Echo, was in town during the Fair, and honored us with a call. The Echo is prospering under its present management.

Rev. J. H. McGarrah visited his friends and the Fair on Friday last.

Rev. Mr. Southwell, lately of Green Ridge, Luzerne county, occupied the pulpit in St. Paul's Church on Sunday last.

Mr. E. A. Snyder, of the Cedar Falls, Iowa, Gazette, dropped into our sanctum last week. He is visiting friends and relatives in this county and vicinity.

HYMENEAL.

It was our privilege to be present at the marriage ceremony which took place at Rupert on Wednesday of last week. The parties to this contract were Mr. E. W. Fulton, the popular agent of the Phila. & Reading R. R. Co. at Rupert, and Miss Lizzie, daughter of J. H Harman, Esq., of the same place. The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. H. Cullen, formerly pastor of St. Paul's Church, Bloomsburg, and was witnessed by about thirty relatives and friends of the bride and groom. The handsome presents which were received indicate the high estimation in which the happy couple are held by their friends. We wish them much prosperity. May they never find the grade on the track of life too heavy for them to ascend; may they never jump the rails in going around the sharp curves, and always escape collisions; and when they begin to go down the track at the other side may they reach the bottom safely at the end of a long and happy life!

The following brief but touching letter from S. W. Buck, of Le Raysville, Bradford county, to David Lowenberg, will, we are sure, be read with interest by the many friends of the late Robert F. Clark, and the sincerity of the writer's sorrow will not be doubted.

LE RAYSVILLE, Penna.,
30th September, 1876.

My Dear Sir:

Last evening I received the COLUMBIAN containing the sad intelligence of the death of our mutual friend, Robt. F. Clark. Through over two years of the most friendly official relations, he as Assessor of Internal Revenue and I as one of his assistants in this county, I found him always the same kindly, courteous gentleman and friend, and our acquaintance has continued ever since. To know him was to love him. He had many warm personal friends in this county who will mourn his loss; he will be missed by a large circle of friends in Columbia and Montour counties, where he was best known. His friends could be numbered by his acquaintances. "After life's fitful fever he sleeps well." Very truly your friend,

S. W. BUCK.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—A grand Democratic meeting was held in Berwick on Monday evening, the 16th inst., which was addressed by Hon. C. B. Brockway, of your town. The hall was well filled, not a seat nor any standing room to be found. Especially did the ladies turn out. Large delegations were here from Salem, Briar Creek and Lime Ridge, besides other townships. The gentleman handled his subject well, and when he was through, I am positive all were satisfied that it was the ablest speech made in Berwick this fall. The enthusiasm was unbounded, and cheer after cheer rent the air for Tilden and Reform. After the able speech of Mr. Brockway our townsman, M. E. Jackson, Esq., was called upon to speak a few words, which he did and did well, creating mirth and keeping the house in a good humor, besides insisting on the necessity for reform in our government affairs. Berwick is alive to the issues of the day as they are discussed on both sides, and especially are the people of this thriving town in earnest for reform. You may expect a comfortable majority for Tilden, Hendricks and Reform on the 7th of November. H.

THE FAIR.

The fall of 1876 has not been a favorable season for Fairs. In many, if not most, of the counties of this State either actual loss has been incurred or at the best but a limited success achieved. We are very glad to be able to state that the Columbia County Fair has been fortunate pecuniarily, although as a matter of course the receipts were not as heavy as in previous years. We are consoled, however, when we learn that the receipts at the Huntingdon Fair, for two days, amounted to just $48, and that the Greensburg Fair lost $1,700. The Centennial Exposition was doubtless an attraction which kept many from the County Fairs.

Nature seemed determined to make our Fair a success, if possible, and three lovelier days cannot be imagined than those of last week. The attendance on Wednesday and Thursday was not very large, but on Friday the grounds were thronged. The articles on exhibition were of good quality and the list larger than was expected. M. C. Sloan & Bro exhibited a fine lot of their handsome carriages—beautifully made, as their work always is, and of the best materials. Their stock included phætons, buggies, sleighs, etc. George Stricker, of Catawissa, had some well built truck wagons and a neat phaeton. J. H. Stricker, of this town, also had some good wagons. Rollins & Holmes exhibited the well known Argand Base Burner and Empress stoves, a perfect range for kitchen purposes, and are deserving of credit for their enterprise in keeping two fires burning to prove conclusively the merits of their heating apparatus. They also had a Hydraulic Ram, which, by the way, was entered in class 4, under the head of "Sheep," which was a sort of cast-ironical joke. H. S. Reay, of Rupert, had a complete assortment of his famous slate paints, iron paint, pure lead, varnishes and brushes. A very good exhibit. The display of vegetables was quite fair; the sweet potatoes, we noticed, were unusually fine. In fruits the display of apples was creditable, but it was a surprise in this prolific year to see so few grapes. There were quantities of preserves, pickles &c., which looked palatable, but we did not taste them and accord them praise by sight only. Rolls of golden butter delighted the lovers of that necessary adjunct to bread and buckwheat cakes. In the ladies' department there was much fine needle work of the merits of which we do not feel capable to speak. There was fancy work and wax work in quantities. An elaborate pair of pillow shams was exhibited by Mrs. I. K. Miller. Joseph Lilly, of Light Street contributed a Bible printed in 1550, 346 years ago. The collection of poultry was if anything better than usual. B. W. Hagenbuch showed Brahmas and Leghorns, in the chicken line, and some large, plump ducks. H. R. Conner had Spangled Hamburgs, game bantys, geese and a whopper of a bronze turkey weighing 40 lbs. Wesley Johnson exhibited a nice coop of guinea fowls. Our space will not permit an extended report of the hundreds of articles of interest which were to be found in the various departments.

On Thursday afternoon the trot for the Farmers' purse came off, resulting as follows: J. H. Gingles took the first prize of $25, Reese Fairman the second of $10, and J. H. Vanderslice the third of $5. Then followed a pulling match for double teams and in this the competing teams were so evenly matched that the purse of $15 was divided between Messrs. Mattz, Hidlay and Worden who owned them.

On Friday morning the County purse was contested. S. Prenise' Brown Reuben bore off the first prize of $50, C. B. Funston's Daisy the second of $25 and S. C. Black's Black Hawk the third of $10. In the afternoon Harry Faux, walked twice around the track, a short mile, in 8 minutes and ten seconds. The stallion trot announced to take place did not come off, as Mr. Wolf declined to trot his horse and Derr's Bonnie Doon was declared not eligible as he was owned out of the county. There was some difference of opinion as to whether this decision was correct, and it would be well to have the matter mere explicit next year. The trot for the "free for all" purse was quite exciting and was probably the best race ever witnessed on this track. Billy Darfast, owned by J. F. Smith, of Philadelphia, took the first prize of $100; Wm. Hughes' E. L. Vincent the second of $30; and L. Smith's Buckskin the third of $25.

There was perfect order on the grounds during the Fair and it is much to the credit of our people that such is always the case. The music was furnished by the Bloomsburg Cornet Band (who accompanied the Firemen in their parade), the Continental Cornet Band of Berwick, and the Washingtonville Brass Band. With the first two bands our people are acquainted but the Washingtonville Band is a new organization. The members are fine looking, manly fellows, are handsomely uniformed, and impressed our people very favorably not only by their playing but by their courtesy and willingness to oblige.

The Executive Committee are deserving of thanks for so perfecting their arrangements as to ensure the avoidance of everything unpleasant or annoying, and to their efforts, to a great extent, the success of the Columbia County Fair of 1876 may fairly be attributed.

NIJNE NOVGOROD FAIR.—The great market of the eastern world has been held at the junction of the Volga and Oka Rivers, in Russia, every summer for hundreds of years. Here the nations of Europe and Asia meet with their products for trade. Cossack, Chinese, Turk and Persian meet the German and Greek with every variety of merchandise that mankind employs, from sapphires to grindstones; tea, opium, fur, food, tools and fabrics, and last but not least medicines. J. C. Ayer & Co.'s celebrated remedies from America were displayed in an elegant bazaar where the Doctor himself might sometimes be seen. They are known and taken on the steppes of Asia as well as the prairies of the West, and are an effectual antidote for the diseases that prevail in the courts of the North as well as the huts and cabins of the western continent.—Lincoln (Ill.) Times. Oct.

The Luzerne Union waxes impatient because the Congressional Conference of this district does not make a choice of candidates and thinks all the aspirants for Congressional honors had better retire and let Mr. Buckalew have the nomination. The disinterestedness of this suggestion is somewhat marred, it is true, by the further statement that there will be no time to print tickets if the matter is not settled at once, but it is really very kind of the Union to suggest a plan to get us out of the difficulty. We are of opinion, however, that the Conference will jog along in its own way just as if the Union hadn't said anything. It's the way with those conference fellows.

The President has issued a proclamation commanding all the citizens' rifle clubs of South Carolina to disband, and an order has been sent to Gen. Sherman to have all the United States troops in the military division of the Atlantic report to Gen. Ruger at Columbia S. C. The matter was discussed at a full Cabinet meeting and it is evidently the purpose of the administration to overawe the people and carry the State for Hayes by the bayonet argument.

The ladies, one and all, pronounce Glenn's Sulphur Soap the best clarifier and emolient for complexion, that they have ever employed. It should be used by all who are anxious to possess unblemished skins.

David Lowenberg would inform his friends and the public that his stock is now replete and with all the novelties for Fall and Winter wear.

In the Merchant Tailoring Department gentlemen will find all the newest and latest styles in Suitings.

Over Coating &c., of the finest qualities and latest designs, any of which he is prepared to make up in City Style.

The Galaxy for November is as fresh and varied as usual, but contains several articles of exceptional excellence. One of these, by Mr. J. T. Headley, the historian, is based on the original order book of Gen. Burgoyne, kept during the famous campaign of 1777, which resulted so disastrously to the British at Saratoga. The writer makes frequent quotations from the original unpublished documents of General Burgoyne to which he has access, and the scenes of the war are thereby brought before us with wonderful vividness.

Albert Rhodes touches upon a subject which should be near the heart (or stomach) of every reader: the question of food. He analyzes and compares the diet and cuisine of various nations and we are led to the unpleasant conclusion that the American is far behind other people in his knowledge of gastronomy, and that with all his attainments to science and art he is little better than a barbarian in his kitchen.

"Fighting by Machinery" is a consideration of the effects of modern invention upon the world's peace. It is a curious question huge lously treated by Dr. T. M. Coan.

Richard Grant White contributes an article upon the proper manner of reading Shakespeare, an article which will be read with enthusiasm by students and all lovers of the drama.

An article on recent English fiction, by W. C. Brownell, is devoted to an analysis of the works of William Black, Thomas Hardy and other novelists of the new school, and a comparison is drawn between these and the pioneers in novel writing.

There is an article upon Yorktown and Williamsburg by the late General Custer; and a charming love story by Miss Olney; a tragic poem by Joaquin Miller, the poet of the Sierras, which is quite phenomenal; two or three other poems of unusual merit, and finally the departments of science, book review, and current gossip, which close one of the most attractive numbers we have ever seen of this popular magazine.

Published by Sheldon & Co., New York, at $4 per annum.

Letters of Administration, de bonis non of Samuel K. Albertson, of Humorous.

An editor's excuse for discontinuing the publication of his paper was, that everybody else stopped the paper and he thought he would.

The roses have done blowing for this year, but the noses will take it up where the roses left off, as soon as the first frost came.—Burlington Hawk Eye.

A Minister of a Highland church after preaching a tedious sermon on happiness, during which he enumerated the various classes of happy persons, asked one of his elders what he thought of the discourse. "You omitted one large class of the happy," replied the elder, "and that is they who escaped your sermon."

Lavander went home some time after midnight and complained of his tight boots. "If your boots are tight as you are," said Lavander's wife, "they ought to sleep with you." As Lavander staggered up stairs he muttered: "She's a [hic] keen one. She knows where them bootsh goin' to sleep."

A Western girl visited a music store and asked for "The Heart Boiled Down with Grease and Care," and "When I Swallowed Home-made Pies." The clerk at once recognized what she desired.

It isn't the chilly feeling of a corn husk matsress which the common traveler objects to, but the nubbins of corn which the manufacturer puts in out of sympathy for the rats.—Detroit Free Press.

A skipper of a down East coaster named the "Hyena" was recently asked what his vessel was named after. His honest and sober reply was, "I don't know, I expect some great man in Congress."

Sister—"Well, you know, Bobby, your eye is very inflamed; you can't go out with Tommy Brown till that speck of dust's out of it." Bobby (anxious to be off)—"I'm all right, I know it's out now; (earnestly) I—I think I heard it fall."—London Fun.

A merchant of a certain city, who died sud denly, left in his desk a letter written to one of his correspondents. His sagacious clerk, a son of Erin, seeing it necessary to send the letter, wrote at the bottom, 'Since writing the above I have died."

Discussion between a wise child and its Aberdonian tutor: "That star you see up there is bigger than this world." "No, it isn't." "Yes, it is." "Then why don't it keep the rain off?"

An Irishman one day met his priest at a milestone. "Arrah, your riverence, there's a praist," said he, pointing to the milestone. "A priest! why do you call that a priest, Mike?" "Why, your riverence, 'tis at least like a praist, for it points the road it never goes itself."

A student explained to his professor: "It's of no use; I was cut out for a loafer." "Well," declared the professor, "whoever cut you out understood his business."

First School Girl (sweet eighteen)—I am so tired of walking along by twos and twos in this way! It's as bad as the animals going into the ark!

Second Ditto (ditto ditto)—Worse! Half of them were masculine!

The young ladies of Sabetha, Kan., are about to introduce a new game called "Kiss me quick and let me go." At rehearsals, says the editor of the Advance, the boys do the kissing part all right, but somehow or other fail at the "let me go" business. The girls seem to forget that part, too, for they never prompt the boys.

She had been fishing for trout very long and very patiently without catching any, when her husband espied her, and asked her what sort of flies she used. "Oh," she answered, "some nice ones that I bought in Paris on purpose." "But," exclaimed the husband pulling out her line and looking at the flies, "these flies will never catch trout. Who ever heard of fishing for trout with flies of this color?" "Why," replied the wife, "they are all right—they match my dress, you see."

"YOUNG AUTHOR."—Yes, Agassiz does re commend authors to eat fish, because the phosphorus in it makes brains. So far you are correct. But I cannot help you to a decision about the amount you need to eat—at least not with certainty. If the specimen composition you send is about your fair usual average I should judge that a couple of whales would be all that you want for the present. Not the largest kind, but simply good middling-sized whales.—Mark Twain, in the Galaxy.

A man who was not clever at conundrums, in attempting to get off one at a tea party at his own house the other evening, became exceedingly mixed. He intended to ask the old question, "why is a woman like ivy?" the familiar but gallant answer to which is, "Because the more you're ruined the closer she clings." But he put it, "Why is ivy like a woman?" which none of the ladies could tell, and so the unfortunate man told them himself that it was "Because the closer it clings the more you're ruined."

A book agent who started out to canvass for "The Tribulations of the Martyrs," was licked out of five offices the first day, and nearly scalded to death by an irate woman whom he interrupted in her culinary duties. Now he swears that the tribulations of the martyrs amount to just nothing compared to his own, and wants his name added to the list when a new edition of the book is printed.—Norristown Herald.

He bought a cheap coat of a gentleman, and he observed next day that it was made of wo kinds of cloth, or else it had faded from one precious wear and tear. He went to the ealer with fire in his eyes. The dealer looked t the coat with surprise, and at the wearer ith extreme wonder. "Vy my goodness I' e said, "you been wear dat coat in de sun! ou t'ink him maat of sheet iron, hey!

A lady, in describing to an irreverent boy occurrence in which his father figured, ed by remarking: "I am sorry to say that thing ended by your father losing his tem- ." "Did father lose his temper?" exaimed the young scapegrace. "Then I hope 'll never find it again, for it was the worst mper I ever heard of."

An Arkansas man thoughtlessly set spring ns in his poultry yard and the next morning the rising sun, he rubbed his spectacles in ecchless amazement at eighteen candidates Governor sitting on the front fence picking d shot out of their thirty-six legs.

WHAT AN EDITOR IS.—An editor is defined as a man who is liable to errors of timmar, toothache, typographical errors, and ses of memory, and has twenty-five thousd people watching to catch him tripping—man of sorrow and acquainted with grief; rly paid, poorly estimated, yet envied by ne of the great men he has made.

Consumption Canbe Cured.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,
SCHENCK'S SEA WEED TONIC,
SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS.

Are the only medicines that will cure Pulmonary Consumption.

Frequently medicines that will stop a cough will cause the death of the patient; they lock up the liver, stop the circulation of the blood, hemorrhage follows, and in fact they clog the actions of the very organs that caused the cough.

Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia are the causes of two-thirds of the cases of Consumption. Many persons complain of a pain in the side, constipation, coated tongue, pain in the shoulder blade, feelings of drowsiness and restlessness, the food lying heavily on the stomach, accompanied with acidity and belching up of wind.

These symptoms usually originate from a disordered condition of the stomach or a torpid liver. Persons so affected, if they take one or two heavy colds, and if the cough in these cases be suddenly checked, will find the stomach and liver clogged remaining torpid and inactive, and almost before they are aware the lungs are a mass of sores, and ulcerated, the result of which is death.

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup is an expectorant which does not contain opium or anything calculated to check a cough suddenly.

Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic dissolves the food, mixes with the gastric juices of the stomach, aids digestion, and creates a ravenous appetite.

When the bowels are costive, skin sallow, or the symptoms otherwise of a bilious tendency, Schenck's Mandrake Pills are required.

Three Points for Consideration.

During the past five years Vegetine has been steadily working itself into public favor, and those who were at first most incredulous in regard to its merits are now its most ardent friends and supporters. There are three essential causes for those having a horror of patent medicines, changing their opinion and lending their influence toward the advancement of Veg tine. 1st, It is an honestly prepared medicine from barks, roots and herbs. 2d. It honestly accomplishes all that is claimed for it, without leaving any bad effects in the system. 3d, it presents honest vouchers in testimonials from honest, well-known citizens, whose signatures are a sufficient guarantee of their earnestness in the matter. Taking into consideration the vast quantity of medicine brought consciously before the public through the daming advertisements in the newspaper columns with no proof of merit or genuine vouchers of what it has done, we should be pardoned for manifest ng a small degree of pride in presenting the following testimonial from Rev. J. S. Dickerson, the popular and ever genial pastor of the South Baptist Church, Boston:

The Tired Body Sues for Sleep.

BOSTON, March 16, 1874.

H. R. STEVENS, Esq:

Dear SIR—It is as much from a sense of duty as of gratitude that I write to say that your Vegetine has been of great help to me when nothing else seemed to avail which I could safely use. Either excessive mental work or unusual care brings upon me a nervous exhaustion that desperately needs sleep but as desperately defies it. Night after night the poor, tired body sues for sleep until the day-dawn is welcomed back, and we begin our work tired out with an almost fruitless chase after rest. Now I have found that a little Vegetine taken just before I retire gives me sweet and immediate sleep and without any of the evil effects of the usual narcotics. I think two things would tend to make brain-workers sleep, 1, a little less work. 2, a little more Vegetine. This prescription has helped me. Yours, &c.,

J. S. DICKERSON.

Valuable Evidence.

The following unsolicited testimonial from Rev. O. T. Walker, D. D., formerly pastor of Bowdoin Square church, and at present settled in Providence, R. I., must be esteemed as reliable evidence. No one should fail to observe that this testimonial is the result of two years' experience with Vegetine in Rev. Mr. Walker's family, who now pronounces it invaluable.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., 164 Transit St.

H. R STEVENS, Esq:

I feel bound to express with my signature the high value I place upon your Vegetine. My family have used it for the last two years. In nervous deolitre it is invaluable, and I recommend it to all who may need an invigorating, renovating tonic.

O. T. WALKER,
Formerly pastor of Bowdoin Sq. Church, Boston.

The Best Evidence.

The following letter from Rev. E. S. Best, pastor of the M. E. Church, Natick, Mass., will be read with interest by many physicians. No person can doubt this testimony, and there is no doubt of the curative powers of Vegetine.

NATICK, MASS., Jan. 1, 1874.

H. R. STEVENS:

Dear sir—we have good reason for regarding your Vegetine a medicine of the greatest value. We feel assured that it has been the means of saving our son's life. He is now seventeen years of age; for the last two years he has suffered from necrosis of the leg, caused by scrofulous affection, and was so far reduced that nearly all who saw him thought his recovery impossible. A council of able physicians could give us but the faintest hope of his ever rallying, two of the number declaring that he was beyond the reach of human remedies, that even amputation could not save him. Just then we commenced giving him Vegetine, and from that time to the present he has been continuously improving. He has lately resumed his studies, thrown away crutches and cane, and walks about cheerfully and strong.

Though there is still some discharge where the limb was lanced, we have the fullest confidence that in a little time he will be perfectly cured

He has taken about three dozen bottles of Vegetine, but lately uses but little, as he declares that he is too well to be taking medicine.

Respectfully yours,
E. S. BEST,
MRS. L. C. F. BEST.

Reliable Evidence.

178 Baltic St., Brooklyn, Nov. 14, 1874.

H. R. STEVENS, Esq:

Dear sir—From personal benefit received by its use as well as from personal knowledge of those whose cures thereby have seemed almost miraculous, I can most heartily and sincerely recommend Vegetine for the complaints which it is claimed to cure.

Late Pastor Calvary Bap. Church, Sacramento, Cal.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

For Scrofula, and all scrofulous diseases, Erysipelas, Rose, or St. Anthony's Fire, Eruptions and Eruptive diseases of the skin, Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Blotches, Tumors, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers, Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa, arising from internal ulceration, and Uterine disease, Syphilitic and Mercurial diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, General Debility, and for Purifying the Blood.

This Sarsaparilla is a combination of vegetable alteratives—Stillingia, Mandrake, Yellow Dock—with the Iodides of Potassium and Iron, and is the most effiencious medicine yet known for the diseases it is intended to cure.

Its ingredients are so skilfully combined, that the full alterative effect of each is assured, and while it is so mild as to be harmless even to children, it is still so effectual as to purge out from the system those impurities and corruptions which develop into loathsome disease.

The reputation it enjoys is derived from its cures, and the confidence which prominent physicians all over the country repose in it, prove their experience of its usefulness.

Certificates attesting its virtues have accumulated, and are constantly being received, and as many of these cases are publicly known, they furnish convincing evidence of the superiority of this Sarsaparilla over every other alterative medicine. So generally is its superiority to any other medicine known, that we need do no more than to assure the public that the best qualities it has ever possessed are strictly maintained.

SULPHUR SOAP.
THOROUGHLY CURES DISEASES OF THE SKIN, BEAUTIFIES THE COMPLEXION, PREVENTS AND REMEDIES RHEUMATISM AND GOUT, HEALS SORES AND ABRASIONS OF THE CUTICLE AND COUNTERACTS CONTAGION.
This Standard External Remedy for Eruptions, Sores and Injuries of the Skin, not only REMOVES FROM THE COMPLEXION ALL BLEMISHES arising from local impurities of the blood and obstruction of the pores, but also those produced by the sun and wind, such as tan and freckles. It renders the CUTICLE MARVELOUSLY CLEAR, SMOOTH AND PLIANT, and being a WHOLESOME BEAUTIFIER is far preferable to any cosmetic.
ALL THE REMEDIAL ADVANTAGES OF SULPHUR BATHS are insured BY THE USE OF Glenn's Sulphur Soap, which in addition to its purifying effects, remedies and PREVENTS RHEUMATISM and GOUT.
It also DISINFECTS CLOTHING and LINEN and PREVENTS DISEASES COMMUNICATED BY CONTACT with the PERSON.
IT DISSOLVES DANDRUFF, prevents baldness, and restores grayness of the hair.
Physicians speak of it in high terms.
Prices—25 and 50 Cents per Cake; per Box (3 Cakes), 60c. and $1.20.
N. B.—The 50 cent cakes are triple the size of those at 25 cents.
